

key as well as double-entry table clues us to one of the most common encryption methods: the Vigenère cipher. There are ways to decrypt messages with this cipher manually (using the table in the given text file), it is much easier to solve it with an online tool such as DCODE.